

DANA WEINER
real bat mitzvah

S heri and Ron Weiner were very proud of their daughter, Dana, for completing a rigorous series of 13 Mitzvot during the year of her bat mitzvah. Dana worked diligently to complete mitzvot in three categories: Avodah (worship), Torah (study), and G'milut Chasadim (acts of loving kindness), taking part in acts like fasting on Yom Kippur, watching Fiddler on the Roof with her family and volunteering at a local shelter. After learning a lot about herself and her faith, it was time to celebrate with close friends and family members, including her brother, Eli, and sister, Kate. On April 24, 2010, the Weiner family hosted 250 guests at Dana's bat mitzvah celebration at The Westin Buckhead. Kelli's Paper and Gifts helped craft two different invitations for the invited children and adults, both featuring hot pink ink. Guests had fun taking photos in a photo area with several candy-themed backgrounds to choose from, by Button-it-Up. When Dana's friends needed a break from the dance floor, where DJ Jazz of EO Entertainment kept the party rocking, they headed to contemporary lounge area, appropriately called "Dana's Suite."

Theme

With the help of Your Party By Karen and planner Karen Segal, Dana's dream of a party full of bright color, loud music and lots of candy came true. The theme became Dana's Sweet Celebration, and was evident in every aspect of the event, starting with invitations.

Favors

The candy theme, of course, continued with a candy cart, or "Dana's Sweet Shop," where guests were welcome to fill bags with sweet treats as they left the party.
